QUESTION 1

The client on Floxin must be alerted to which of the following adverse effects?

- A. stunting of height in teens and young adults
- B. propensity of anovulatory uterine bleeding
- C. intractable diarrhea
- D. tendon rupture

Correct Answer: D

Floxin is a quinolone antibiotic used in respiratory infections and pelvic and reproductive infections.

Rarely, quinolones can cause tendon sheath rupture, usually of the Achilles.

At the first indication of tendon pain, the antibiotic should be discontinued.

QUESTION 2

The only time that an individual may receive medical care without giving informed consent is _____.

- A. when the durable power of attorney for health care is not available
- B. in an emergency, life-or-death situation
- C. when the physician is not available for discussion with the client
- D. when they (clients) are not able to speak for themselves

Correct Answer: B

Treatment may be given without consent in a life-threatening situation. Choices "when the durable power of attorney for health care is not available", "when the physician is not available for discussion with the client", "when they (clients) are not able to speak for themselves" are incorrect. All attempts to notify a durable power of attorney for health care should be made. If unavailable, the physician assumes responsibility for treatment within facility protocol. The physician is obligated to have a discussion with the client in all non- life-threatening situations. If clients are not able to speak for themselves, their power of attorney for health care or responsible party is involved in the consent process.

QUESTION 3

Which statement about adjuvant medications is true and accurate?

- A. Licensed practical nurses cannot administer adjuvant medications.
- B. Adjuvant medications are schedule 2 narcotics.
- C. Adjuvant medications are schedule 1 narcotics.

D. Adjuvant medications can be purchased over the counter.

Correct Answer: D

Adjuvant medications, used to increase the effects of the opioids and nonopioid medications.

These medications include anxiolytics, anesthetics, anticonvulsants, nonsteroidal analgesic medications and topical local anesthetics. Some of these medications, like ibuprophen, are available over the counter and they act on pain by deadening the nerve endings in the skin.

QUESTION 4

Regardless of their practice area, nurses should be concerned with _____.

- A. all drug-resistant bacteria
- B. microorganisms that are critical
- C. transmission of microorganisms
- D. overprescription of bacteriostatic drugs

Correct Answer: C

All nurses should be concerned with preventing the transmission of microorganisms to themselves as well as to others.

One way to accomplish this goal is by asepsis.

Nursing practice focuses on providing a safe and therapeutic environment to protect clients, family members, and health care providers from acquiring infections.

QUESTION 5

A nurse is assessing a patient that has undergone a recent CABG. The nurse notices a mole with irregular edges with a bluish color.

The nurse should _____.

- A. recommend a dermatological consult to the MD
- B. note the location of the mole and contact the physician via the telephone
- C. note the location of the mole and follow-up with the attending physician via the medical record and phone call
- D. remove the mole with a sharp's debridement technique, following charge nurse approval

Correct Answer: C

Contacting the attending physician via the medical record is appropriate due to the possibility of melanoma.
